

A FOOL AND HIS MONEY...

JANUARY 2005

The wild and crazy billionaire owner of the NBA's Dallas Mavericks Mark Cuban is planning to start a hedge fund. A hedge fund that will LITERALLY gamble investors' money! Cuban believes that gambling on slot machines, blackjack, poker, and sports holds as much promise as returns in the stock and bond markets. Cuban made $2 billion by founding the company Broadcast.com and duping Yahoo into buying it.

For Mark Cuban's idiot investors lets hope this venture fares better than his television show The Benefactor.

Also, does this fund offer investors free drinks and or breakfast?